1. Our Commitment

Yiyang Education & Guardianship provides educational guardianship to international students, all of whom are under 18 unless otherwise agreed, attending boarding schools in the United Kingdom. Their parents live overseas and cannot be present. We are frequently the only adult in the UK acting in the child's interests outside the school.

We are committed to protecting every child in our care from harm. Safeguarding is the responsibility of everyone connected with this organisation, and no one may assume that someone else will act on a concern.

1.1 Our principles

Where there is a safeguarding concern, our approach is child-centred and taken in the best interests of the child, with the child's wishes and feelings taken into account. Where a student's interests conflict with those of a parent, a school, a homestay or this business, the student comes first.

We adopt a coordinated approach to safeguarding and play our part in multi-agency safeguarding arrangements, working with schools, local safeguarding partnerships, children's social care and the police as the situation requires.

We recognise that children may not feel ready or know how to tell someone that they are being abused, exploited or neglected, and may not recognise their experiences as harmful. This must never prevent anyone from exercising professional curiosity and speaking to the Designated Safeguarding Lead about a concern. A child who says nothing is not a child with nothing to say.

If in doubt, refer. It is not our role to investigate or to decide whether abuse has occurred. It is our role to recognise, record and refer.

2. Scope

This policy applies to:

- The Guardian (Yating Yang), as proprietor and Designated Safeguarding Lead
- The back-up guardian appointed under Standard 2.6.3
- All members of the Guardian's household aged 16 and over, because students are accommodated at the Guardian's home during exeats, half-terms, school closures and in emergencies
- All homestays, all members of their households aged 16 and over, and any regular overnight visitor to those households

- All drivers, tutors, interpreters, volunteers and contractors with any contact with students

It applies whenever a student is in our care or under our arrangements, including during travel, at homestay placements, at the Guardian's home, and in all online and telephone contact.

A copy is provided to every member of staff, volunteer and homestay, and is available to parents and partner schools on request and, once a website exists, published there.

Code of conduct signed	2 Oct 2026
References	1. Fiona Biermann – info@linguatastic.com 2. Hongyan Zhang – Hongyan.zhang@kcl.ac.uk

This provision exists because a sole trader has no line manager. A policy that offers no route around the proprietor offers a child no protection at all.

5.3 Homestays and household members

Homestays read this policy, sign the code of conduct, and report any concern to the DSL immediately. Homestays do not investigate concerns and do not decide whether a concern is serious enough to pass on.

Because students are accommodated at the Guardian's home, that home is treated as a homestay for the purposes of this policy and is subject to the same checks, risk assessment, annual review and accommodation standards as any other.

6. Abuse, Neglect and Safeguarding Concerns

Abuse and neglect are forms of maltreatment. Somebody may abuse or neglect a child by inflicting harm, or by failing to act to prevent harm. Abuse can take place wholly online, or technology may be used to facilitate offline abuse. Children may be abused by an adult or adults, or by another child or children.

6.1 The four categories

Category	Definition and signs to watch for
Physical abuse	Hitting, shaking, throwing, poisoning, burning, drowning, suffocating, or otherwise causing physical harm, including fabricating or inducing illness. Signs: unexplained injuries; injuries inconsistent with the explanation; reluctance to change clothes or be examined; flinching; fear of going to a particular placement
Emotional abuse	Persistent emotional maltreatment causing severe and lasting adverse effects on development. Includes conveying worthlessness, inappropriate expectations, silencing, seeing the ill-treatment of another, serious bullying, and exploitation or corruption. Signs: withdrawal; excessive compliance; a student made to feel unwelcome or a burden; distress over academic pressure from home
Sexual abuse	Forcing or enticing a child to take part in sexual activities, whether or not the child is aware of what is happening, including non-contact activities, grooming, and online abuse. Signs: sexualised behaviour or knowledge inappropriate to age; unexplained gifts or money; an adult seeking private or unsupervised contact; secrecy about an online contact
Neglect	Persistent failure to meet basic physical and psychological needs. Signs: not adequately fed, clothed for the weather, or cared for when ill; left alone for long periods; medical appointments not kept; accommodation unsafe or unsuitable; no access to laundry or study space

6.2 Specific safeguarding concerns

We remain alert to the wider range of concerns set out in Keeping Children Safe in Education, including:

- Child sexual exploitation and child criminal exploitation, including county lines
- Serious violence, and children carrying or being coerced into carrying weapons
- Domestic abuse, including a child witnessing it in a household
- So-called honour-based abuse, female genital mutilation and forced marriage. FGM carries a mandatory reporting duty
- Sexual violence and sexual harassment, including image-based abuse and upskirting
- Modern slavery and trafficking
- Online abuse, grooming, radicalisation and financial scams
- Substance misuse, and gambling or gaming harm

6.3 Risks specific to our students

Our students carry a distinct risk profile that a general policy does not capture. We pay particular attention to:

- Isolation. A student is thousands of miles from family, in a second language, and may have no independent adult they trust.
- Reluctance to disclose. Students may fear disappointing their parents, wasting the family's investment, or being sent home, and may come from contexts where reporting an adult is culturally difficult.
- Dependence on the Guardian. We control accommodation, money, travel and communication with parents. That dependence is itself a risk, and is the reason the independent reporting routes in sections 5.2 and 8.2 exist.
- Financial exploitation. Students may carry significant sums or hold cards on overseas accounts, and may be pressured into informal currency exchange or online fraud.
- Virtual kidnapping and impersonation scams, which have specifically targeted Chinese international students. Any instruction to a student to conceal their whereabouts or to tell their family they have been taken is treated as a safeguarding emergency.
- Cultural adjustment, homesickness and academic pressure affecting mental health.
- Unfamiliarity with UK norms, law and services, increasing vulnerability at weekends and during unsupervised time.

6.4 Children who require additional support

Some children need more from us, and additional barriers can exist to recognising abuse in their case. This includes students with special educational needs or disabilities, students with medical conditions or mental health needs, students whose first language is not English, LGBT students, and students affected by a family emergency at home. For these students we do not assume that changes in behaviour, mood or appearance relate to their condition or circumstances, and we make sure they know how to raise a concern in a way that works for them, including in Chinese.

7. How Students Can Report, and Receiving a Disclosure

7.1 Systems for students to report

At induction, and in the Student Handbook in age-appropriate language and in Chinese, every student is told: what behaviour they are entitled to expect from adults; that anything that makes them uncomfortable can be raised; who to tell; and that a concern can be raised with someone other than the Guardian if the concern is about the Guardian.

Every student is given the 24-hour safeguarding number, the contact details of their school's designated safeguarding lead, and independent sources of help including Childline on 0800 1111, which is free, confidential and available in translation.

Any concern a student raises is taken seriously, recorded, acted upon, and followed up with the student so that they know what happened. A student who reports something is never made to feel they have caused trouble.

We face-to-face meet every student at least 1 time during term, and hold a private conversation without the homestay present at least once per term. A record of every contact is kept on the student file.

7.2 Receiving a disclosure

Do	Do not
Listen. Give the student your full attention and time.	Do not promise to keep it secret. Say you will have to tell someone whose job it is to help.
Stay calm and take it seriously.	Do not react with shock, anger or disgust.
Let the student use their own words.	Do not ask leading questions or press for detail.
Reassure the student they were right to tell you.	Do not investigate, or approach the person described.
Write it down as soon as possible, in the student's own words, with date, time and place.	Do not delay because you are unsure whether it is serious enough.
Pass it to the DSL immediately, and the same day at the latest.	Do not discuss it with anyone who does not need to know.

Where a student wishes to speak in Chinese, they may do so. The record notes the language used and, where written in English, that it is a translation of the student's words.

8. Acting on a Concern

Where there is an immediate risk to a child's safety, call 999 first. Everything else follows afterwards.

1. Record the concern in writing immediately, using the concern record at Appendix B.
2. Notify the school's designated safeguarding lead the same day. The school holds primary safeguarding responsibility for the student and is always informed.
3. Where the concern may meet the threshold for referral, or where the DSL is unsure, contact the relevant local authority children's service for the area in which the child lives (Appendix A). Professional consultation lines exist for exactly this purpose and are used rather than waiting.
4. Confirm any telephone referral in writing within 24 hours.

5. Notify parents, unless doing so would place the child at greater risk. Where a concern involves the family, take advice from children's social care before contacting them.
6. Record the outcome, including what was decided and by whom, and follow up until the matter is resolved.

We do not require consent to share information where a child is at risk of harm.

8.1 Child-on-child abuse

We recognise that children can abuse other children, that it can happen inside and outside a placement and online, and that it is never acceptable or simply part of growing up. It includes bullying and cyberbullying; physical abuse; sexual violence and sexual harassment; sharing nude or semi-nude images; initiation or hazing; upskirting; and coercive or controlling behaviour.

Any allegation of child-on-child abuse is reported to the DSL immediately and to the school's designated safeguarding lead the same day. Where students in the same placement are involved, they are separated immediately. We do not dismiss such reports as banter, horseplay or part of growing up, and we support both the child who is alleged to have been harmed and the child alleged to have caused harm.

8.2 Escalation and professional challenge

Where we disagree with a decision taken by a school, a local authority or another agency about a student's safety, we pursue the disagreement rather than dropping it: in writing to the school's designated safeguarding lead, then to the head, and where necessary through the relevant Local Safeguarding Partnership escalation procedure. Deference to a school is not a reason to leave a concern unresolved.

9. Mental Health

Mental health problems can affect any young person and can, in some cases, indicate that a child has suffered or is at risk of suffering abuse, neglect or exploitation. Only appropriately trained professionals may diagnose a mental health problem; we may, however, identify behaviour suggesting that a student is experiencing one or is at risk of developing one.

Where a mental health concern is also a safeguarding concern, immediate action is taken under section 8 and the DSL is informed.

9.1 Before accepting a student

We fully risk-assess the implications of providing guardianship to any student, and consider whether we are equipped to meet their needs, before agreeing to act as their guardian. Where we are not, we say so.

9.2 Removal from school

Where a school asks us to remove a student from the school setting, we ask a member of school staff to complete and return our Student Removal Form before collection, so that we understand the circumstances, whether the student has been assessed by a medical professional, whether they are at risk to themselves or others, and what medication is involved. We do not collect a student until that form is returned. We then arrange suitable accommodation, inform the parents, and agree next steps with the school.

9.3 Working with others

We work with the school, the parents, the student's GP and any involved agency to support the student, sharing information on a need-to-know basis. Where a student requires medication while with a homestay, the homestay is fully informed and a formal record of administration is kept. Where a condition requires specialist knowledge, we ensure the homestay is trained and comfortable before placing the student.

A list of external support agencies is at Appendix D.

10. Allegations Against Adults

This section applies to any allegation that an adult working with or accommodating our students has behaved in a way that has harmed, or may have harmed, a child; has committed a criminal offence against or related to a child; has behaved towards a child in a way indicating they may pose a risk of harm; or has behaved in a way in their personal life that raises safeguarding concerns.

It covers the Guardian, her household members, the back-up guardian, homestays and their household members, drivers, tutors and volunteers.

10.1 Procedure

7. The allegation is reported to the LADO for the area in which the child lives within one working day. This is a referral for advice and decision, not an internal matter to resolve first.
8. The person against whom the allegation is made has no further contact with any student pending the LADO's advice. Where a homestay is involved, the student is moved immediately.
9. The school's designated safeguarding lead and the student's parents are informed, subject to any advice from the LADO or police about what may be shared and when.
10. We self-report to AEGIS any significant safeguarding concern, or any situation that could appear compromising or be misconstrued, or where behaviour has fallen below expected standards.

11. Where the outcome is that a person is dismissed or removed from our list of homestays, or would have been had they not resigned, a referral is made to the Disclosure and Barring Service. This is a legal duty, not a discretion.

10.2 Allegations against the Guardian

Where the allegation is against the Guardian herself, the Guardian does not manage the process. The person receiving the concern reports directly to the LADO and to the school's designated safeguarding lead. The back-up guardian assumes operational responsibility for the students affected and informs their parents. The Guardian must not contact the student concerned, or discuss the matter with them, their parents or any witness.

11. Low-Level Concerns and Self-Reporting

A low-level concern is any concern about an adult's behaviour towards a child that does not meet the allegation threshold above. Examples include being overly friendly with a student, giving gifts, offering lifts alone, using inappropriate language, or contacting a student privately on social media.

Low-level concerns are reported to the DSL, recorded, dated and retained even where no action follows. A single concern may be trivial; a pattern is not. Records are reviewed at each annual policy review and whenever a homestay is reassessed. Where a low-level concern is about the Guardian, it is reported to the back-up guardian and to the school's designated safeguarding lead.

We encourage everyone covered by this policy to self-report any situation involving them that could appear compromising or be misconstrued, or where their behaviour has fallen below the standard set in the code of conduct. Self-reporting is treated as responsible professional conduct, not as an admission, and is recorded and managed in the same way as any low-level concern.

12. Whistleblowing

Anyone — a student, parent, homestay member, school staff member, contractor or member of the public — may raise a concern about our practice or about the conduct of anyone connected with us. Concerns may be raised with the DSL or, where that is not appropriate, directly with:

- The back-up guardian
- The designated safeguarding lead at the student's school
- The relevant local authority children's service or LADO (Appendix A)
- The NSPCC Whistleblowing Advice Line, 0800 028 0285, 8am to 8pm Monday to Friday, or help@nspcc.org.uk
- Protect, the independent whistleblowing advice line, 020 3117 2520, protect-advice.org.uk
- AEGIS, once we are an accredited member

No one raising a genuine concern in good faith will suffer any detriment. No homestay will lose a placement or payment as a result of reporting a concern. Concerns may be raised anonymously, though this can limit what we are able to do.

13. Safer Recruitment

We follow safer recruitment practice in line with Keeping Children Safe in Education when appointing anyone who will have contact with students. No adult has unsupervised contact with a student until all checks are complete and recorded. At least one person involved in every interview has completed safer recruitment training from a recognised provider.

13.1 The process

12. Application form, alongside any CV, held on the personnel file.
13. Interview, with detailed written notes retained.
14. Two written references, at least one from someone who has known the candidate for two years. For staff, one from the current or most recent employer; for homestays, at least one ideally from a professional person. Referees may not be related to the candidate, and open references are not accepted. References are verified, checked for consistency against the application, and any vagueness or concern is followed up by telephone with a log of the call placed on file.
15. Identity verified by passport, or birth certificate where there is no passport, with a copy retained by permission.
16. Right to work in the UK verified and the date recorded. British citizenship or settled status verified where required by the UK Visas and Immigration Child Student rules.
17. Enhanced DBS certificate with Children's Barred List check where the role is regulated activity, obtained with written permission before employment or hosting begins. Where the person is registered with the DBS Update Service, the original certificate is viewed and an online check carried out with their written permission.
18. Overseas criminal record check where the person has lived or worked abroad for more than three months in the last five years. Where a country cannot provide one, an additional reference and a written risk assessment are obtained.
19. Signed self-declaration, repeated annually or on any change.
20. An online search as part of due diligence on shortlisted candidates.
21. Induction, including safeguarding training, before the role begins.

13.2 Records

A single central record holds all checks in one place, recording for each person: role, start date, date of first hosting, identity documents seen and by whom, DBS certificate number, level and date of issue, who viewed the original and when, Children's Barred List check date, right to work and settled status evidence, overseas checks, references received and verified, self-declaration, and induction training. Personnel files hold the underlying documents. Dates on the single central record and the personnel file must agree.

Copies of DBS certificates are not normally retained. Where a copy is kept there must be a valid reason and it is not held longer than six months.

13.3 Where a check discloses something

Where a certificate discloses a previous conviction, we complete a written risk assessment to determine suitability, and seek guidance from the relevant local authority where in any doubt. We take account of the immigration rules on criminal convictions affecting a Child Student's nominated carer and anyone regularly living with them, under which an application must be refused where the carer or a member of their household has received a custodial sentence of 12 months or more, is a persistent offender showing particular disregard for the law, or has committed an offence causing serious harm.

13.4 Homestay checks

In addition to the above, every person aged 16 or over resident at a homestay address holds an Enhanced DBS check. This includes household members temporarily working or studying away from home who will be present at the same time as a student, and any regular overnight visitor. The primary carer completes a declaration on behalf of the household, or each member completes an individual self-declaration, repeated annually or on any change. The primary carer must be a British citizen or hold settled status, evidenced and recorded.

Homestays are visited in person and risk-assessed before any placement, and revisited at least annually, with a written record kept on the homestay file.

14. Missing Students

A 24-hour number is available to students, parents, homestays, schools and staff to report a missing student: 07828875261

22. Establish the last known location through the school, homestay, classmates and mobile phone location.
23. If the student is not found within one hour, call 999 and report the student missing. Where the student is under 13, or where there is any indication of risk, call immediately without waiting.
24. Notify the school and the parents at the same time.
25. Act as the UK point of contact throughout, cooperating with the police and keeping a written chronology.
26. On the student's return, hold a conversation with them, record what happened and why, consider whether it indicates a wider safeguarding concern, and provide a written report to parents within 24 hours.

Where anyone has instructed a student to break contact, conceal their location, or tell their family they have been taken, this is treated as a safeguarding emergency and reported to the police immediately. A student who suddenly becomes uncontactable is never assumed to be simply out of touch.

15. Anti-Radicalisation and the Prevent Duty

A 24-hour number is available to students, parents, homestays, schools and staff to report a radicalisation concern: 07828875261.

We remain alert to signs that a student may be vulnerable to radicalisation, including sudden changes in behaviour or associations, withdrawal from peers, expressed sympathy for extremist causes, possession of extremist material, or a change in online activity. Radicalisation is treated as a safeguarding concern, and vulnerability rather than ideology is the trigger for action.

Concerns are raised with the DSL and discussed with the school's designated safeguarding lead, then referred through Prevent or Channel as appropriate. In an emergency, call 999; otherwise the police non-emergency number is 101 and the anti-terrorist hotline is 0800 789 321. The key points are covered in appropriate language in the Student Handbook.

The DSL has completed the government Prevent duty training, including all three available modules, and refreshes it regularly. Homestays and household members are encouraged to complete the basic Prevent awareness e-learning.

16. Anti-Bullying, including Cyberbullying

Bullying is behaviour, repeated over time, that intentionally hurts another person physically or emotionally. It includes name-calling, exclusion, physical aggression, damage to belongings, and bullying based on race, nationality, religion, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, disability or appearance.

Cyberbullying takes place through phones and online platforms, including platforms not in English and not monitored by schools, and can follow a student into the place they sleep.

We take any report of bullying seriously, record it, and work with the school, the student and the parents to stop it. Where bullying involves students in the same placement, they are separated. Where it is criminal — threats of violence, hate crime, or sharing indecent images — it is reported to the police. Bullying that causes or is likely to cause significant harm is treated as a safeguarding concern under section 8.

Guidance for students on recognising bullying and who to turn to is given in the Student Handbook and is available to homestays.

17. Online Safety

We are committed to keeping students safe online. The risks fall into four areas: content, meaning exposure to harmful material; contact, meaning harmful interaction with adults or other children; conduct, meaning a student's own online behaviour and the harm it may cause or attract; and commerce, meaning scams, fraud, gambling and financial exploitation. Our students face the last of these more than most, and often on platforms in Chinese that schools do not monitor.

We give students age-appropriate online safety guidance at induction, in English and Chinese. We make homestays aware of available wi-fi controls and filtering options. Adults engaged by us do not contact students through personal social media accounts; communication uses accounts and devices that can be reviewed, and group communication is preferred to private messaging wherever practical. Photographs of students are not taken, kept or shared except with written consent, and consent is obtained before any image is used in publicity.

Because technology and the harms related to it change rapidly, we carry out an annual review of our approach to online safety, supported by a written annual risk assessment considering the risks our particular students face. The review is dated and recorded, and takes account of current UK guidance and legislation on children's use of social media.

18. Records, Confidentiality and Information Sharing

Safeguarding records are made at the time or as soon as possible afterwards, are factual, distinguish fact from opinion, record what was said in the student's own words, and record who was told and when. They are kept separately from general student files, on encrypted access-controlled storage with two-factor authentication or in locked physical storage, and are accessible only to the DSL and, during a period of cover or where a concern relates to the Guardian, the back-up guardian.

Records include correspondence with local children's services, the police and other professional organisations. They are retained in line with statutory guidance and are not deleted at the end of the guardianship. Where guardianship transfers to another organisation, safeguarding records pass securely to the receiving guardian and the school.

We share information with parents, students, homestays, schools, local children's services and other external bodies where there is a need to do so. Information is shared on a need-to-know basis. Anyone with whom safeguarding information is shared must keep it confidential. Confidentiality is never a reason to withhold information where a child is at risk of harm.

19. Anti-Discrimination

We uphold a zero-tolerance position on racism and discrimination. We respect and support the human and legal rights, religion and customs of every student, and we uphold the stated ethos and values of the student's school. No student receives a lesser standard of care or a slower response because of their race, nationality, religion, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, disability or language. Discriminatory behaviour by an adult connected with us is a conduct matter and may be a safeguarding matter. Discriminatory behaviour between students is addressed under sections 8.1 and 16.

We are alert to the additional barriers that can exist to recognising abuse where a student has a disability, a medical condition, limited English, or is LGBT, and we do not allow assumptions about culture or background to explain away a concern.

20. Gender Questioning Students

Where a student is questioning their gender, we approach the matter with care and act in the student's best interests, in line with Keeping Children Safe in Education. We work with the student's school and follow the school's approach, since the school holds primary responsibility and will usually have engaged with the parents already. We involve parents unless doing so would place the student at risk of significant harm, and we take no unilateral decision about a student's care, accommodation or communication with home on this basis without consulting the school's designated safeguarding lead. Any student in this position is treated with respect and is not exposed to bullying or discrimination in a placement.

21. Training

Who	Training	Frequency
DSL	Designated Safeguarding Lead training (basic online training completed beforehand)	Every 2 years, with an annual update
DSL	Safer recruitment training	Refreshed regularly
DSL	Prevent duty training	Refreshed regularly
DSL	KCSIE annual update, recorded with reflection in the CPD log	Each September

Who	Training	Frequency
Back-up guardian	Introduction to safeguarding as a minimum; the current back-up guardian holds DSL (Level 3) training	Every 3 years, with annual updates
Homestay primary carers (both, where shared)	Introduction to safeguarding before the role begins	Every 3 years
Homestays	Annual update covering safeguarding, mental health and regulatory changes	At least annually
Household members 16+, drivers, volunteers	Safeguarding awareness appropriate to the role	Every 3 years

Where an individual already holds suitable safeguarding training, we see a copy of the certificate and record the date and level. A formal record of all safeguarding training is kept, including the date taken and the expiry date, on the single central record.

22. Liaison

22.1 Partner schools

The DSL makes contact and liaises as necessary with the designated safeguarding lead at every partner school. We inform the school of any welfare or safeguarding concern about a student without delay, tell the school whenever we are visiting the site, and inform the school if we cease to act as a student's guardian or if someone else is undertaking our duties in our absence. A record of all contact with schools is kept.

22.2 Parents and agents

We keep parents informed in line with the contract and in every emergency. Parents are told at engagement how safeguarding concerns are handled, that we may refer a concern without their consent where a child is at risk, and who they can contact if their concern is about us. Where we work with an agent, the agent is given the same information and is bound by a written contract.

22.3 Local Safeguarding Partnerships

We liaise with the Local Safeguarding Partnership for the area in which the child lives, follow local inter-agency procedures, and document that we have done so. Contact details for every area in which we operate are at Appendix A.

23. Review

This policy is reviewed every August before the start of the school year, and immediately following any safeguarding incident, any change in statutory guidance, or any change in the structure of the business. Each review is recorded with the date and what changed. The current version is issued to homestays and schools at each review.

Appendix C — Code of Conduct

Signed by the Guardian, all household members aged 16 and over, the back-up guardian, homestays and their household members aged 16 and over, drivers, tutors and volunteers.

I understand that I hold a position of trust in relation to students under the age of 18, and I agree that I will:

- Treat every student with respect and dignity, whatever their nationality, religion, background, gender, sexual orientation or command of English
- Exercise the same level of care as a responsible parent, and use my professional judgement in the student's best interests
- Report any concern about a student's welfare to the DSL immediately, and never decide for myself that it is not serious enough to mention
- Report any concern about the conduct of another adult, including the Guardian, using the routes set out in this policy
- Self-report any situation involving me that could appear compromising or be misconstrued, or where my behaviour has fallen below this code
- Respect a student's privacy, including in their bedroom and bathroom, and knock before entering
- Avoid one-to-one situations where they can reasonably be avoided, and make sure others know where I am when they cannot
- Communicate with students only through accounts and devices that can be reviewed, and not through private personal social media
- Use only reasonable, appropriate and lawful means of control to maintain safety and good order
- Comfort a student in distress appropriately, and tell the Guardian afterwards
- Keep to the arrangements agreed for the student's care, travel and accommodation, and tell the Guardian promptly if anything changes
- Ensure that any vehicle I use to transport a student is taxed, insured for the purpose and roadworthy, and that seat belts and child seat rules are followed

And that I will not:

- Use physical punishment, under any circumstances, or any form of humiliation or degrading treatment
- Have any sexual contact with, or form any sexual or romantic relationship with, a student
- Give or receive gifts, money or favours outside what has been agreed
- Take, keep or share photographs or video of a student except as agreed in writing
- Search a student or their belongings
- Consume alcohol or any substance while responsible for a student, or transport a student having done so
- Ask a student to keep a secret from the Guardian, the school or their parents
- Smoke or vape in the presence of a student, or permit a student to do so
- Use language that is discriminatory, demeaning or sexualised

I confirm that I have read and understood the Safeguarding and Child Protection Policy.
